NEWLIFE

14TH JANUARY 2018

WORDS of life

It is rare that I see something on social media worth talking about or reiterating so I was pleasantly surprised by this recent posting from Steve Gee (Central Vineyard – Northampton) "Kingdom people seek first the Kingdom of God and its justice; church people often put church work above concerns of justice, mercy and truth. Church people think about how to get people into the church; Kingdom people think about how to get the church into the world. Church people worry that the world might change the church; Kingdom people work to see the church change the world" - Howard Snyder

Steve is one of a group of pastors that meets regularly and with whom I share a passion for helping reshape the church so that we might impact our town. In many ways this quote is a neat summary of how we as pastors think about both the church and its place in the world. It seems to me that God is in the process of reshaping his church so that she properly understands her place in the world. Instead of being driven by fear, the fear of being infected by the world, the fear of sin somehow polluting us, we are motivated by faith and a godly confidence that we carry within us the strength to heal our families, friends, neighbours, and communities.

As we begin our study of Acts this Sunday morning my prayer is that the truth of these words would become the reality of our lives. The newly fledging church of Acts was full of the Spirit and full of the boldness that comes when you know the truth that Christ is risen his kingdom is eternal, and within us is the power to change world.
